Maxine Mimms Named Director Of Evergreen's Tacoma Program

Dr. Maxime Mims, director of the Evergreen State College's Tacoma makes a point during seminar, Mims began the program over twelve years ago in her home. The program's present location at the Industrialization Opportunities Center in downtown Tacoma accommodates over 120 uppper- division adult students.

"Teaching is my art," says Dr. Maxine Mimms, newly appointed Director of The Evergreen State College Tacoma Program. "My role as artist/teacher is to provide students with canvas--and lots of it-- the right kinds of paint and a positive atmosphere for learning."

Mimms lived up to this role twelve years ago when she responded to the educational needs of several working adult students by founding the Evergreen/Tacoma Program in her home. The "canvas" quickly outgrew Mimms' dining room table and moved to space donated by The Tacoma Community House, Tacoma Association of Colored Women's Clubs and the Tacoma Urban League. Presently the upper-division proram is located in the Industrialization Opportunities Center in downtown Tacoma.

"We strictly receive direction from the Tacoma community," reports Mimms, "They are responsible for this building, my doctorate and the continuing success of the program."

Currently, the multicultural program has an enrollment of 120 adult students. "We will continue to maintain an ethnic composition wherein minorities will make up the majority of our student population," adds Mimms, "and we offer day and night classes to facilitate the schedules of working students."

Complete details on the Evergreen/Tacoma program are available by calling 593-5915 in Tacoma, or 866-6000, ext. 6004 in Olympia.

Executive Race

Who will the winner be? Only time will tell in this primary election race. Absentee ballots will tell the tale. As of now (Thursday) Stortini holds a slight lead over city councilman, Tim Strege. The eventual primary winner will face republican Ned Shera in the general election.

Voters also followed a trend in supporting Pierce County executive Booth Gardner over state Sen. Jim McDermott of Seattle in the Democratic gubernatorial primary.

The gubernatorial campaign already has become on of the most costly in state history. Gardner who reportedly has spent $1.3 million said he will probably spend another $1 million. He also said he would'nt slow down untill after the general election. He's moving full steam ahead to come out the winner.

HAVE YOU BELIEVE OUR REPORT?
SERIES #45
ISAIAH 53: 1&2

Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him as a root out of dry ground.

He hath no form nor comiliness: and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

WORDS OF WISDOM
JOB 42 & 1....

Then Job answered the Lord, and said, I know that thou canst do every thing, and that no thought can be withholden from thee.

Who is he that hideth counsel without knowledge? Therefore have I uttered that I understood not; things too wonderful for me, which I know not.

Hear, I beseech thee, and I will speak: I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me.

I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear: but now mine eye seeth thee.

Wherefore I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes.

And it was so, that after the Lord had spoken these words unto Job, the Lord said to Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye have not spoken of me the thing that is right, as my servant Job hath.

Therefore take unto you now seven bullocks and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a burnt offering; and my servant Job shall pray for you: for him will I except: lest I deal with you after your folly, in that ye have not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my servant Job.

So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord commanded them: the Lord also accepted Job.

And the Lord turned the captivity of Job, when he prayed for his friends: also the Lord gave Job twice as much as he had before.

Then came there unto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had been of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house: and they bemoaned him, and comforted him over all the evil that the Lord had brought upon him: every man also gave him a piece of money, and every one an earring of gold.

Tater's In The Pews

Whether your congregation numbers 20 or 2,000 you must have some members of the Tate family, says the Rev. Lincoln Eng, rector of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church in Beverton Oregon.

A description of the Tates, originally appearing in the parish bulletin of St. Bartholomew's, follows.

"There is old man Dick Tate who wants to run everything in the church. Uncle Ro Tate tries to change everything, and Sister Agi Tate stirs up trouble whenever possible. her brother Irri Tate helps her, and whenever new projects are suggested, brother Hesi Tate and Sister Vege Tate pour cold water on the proposals.

Then there is sister Mi Tate who tries to have the church mimic everybody else. When the Church budget is announced, everybody tends to quake if Brother Devas Tate stands up in the meeting, and brother Poten Tate wants to be a big shot.

"But not all members of the family are bad, for brother Facili Tate is quite helpful.

A delightful member of the family is Miss Felici Tate. And the Pastor is always delighted by brother Cogi Tate and his twin brother, Medi Tate."

Black Beauty What Is It?

A variety of colcrs , Ebony, Chocolate, Cream Mahogany, and Etc.

Come To Church Services

JOB 24 & 17...

For the morning is to them even as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death.

He is swift as the waters; their portion is cursed in the earth: he beholdeth not the way of the vineyards.

Drought and heat consume the snow waters: so doth the grave those which have sinned.

The womb shall forget him; the worm shall feed sweetly on him; he shall be no more remembered; and wickedness shall be broken as a tree.

He evil entreateth the barren that beareth not: and doeth not good to the widow.

He draweth also the mightly with his power: he riseth up, and no man is sure of life.

Though it be given him to be in safety, whereon he resteth; yet his eyes are upon their ways.

They are exalted for a little while, but are gone and brought low; they re taken out of the way as all other, and cut off as the tops of the ears of corn.

We welcome news of your church and civic events.

Tony Brown's Comments

Remedying A Wrong

I've hit rock bottom," said Vanessa Williams immediately following the revelation that she had posed in acts of lovemaking with another woman. Not quite.

In the new fall line-up for nude and pornographic dirty pictures of the defrocked Miss America, leather scanties, handcuffs and wrist bracelets have been added to her love arsenal. Vanessa, the un-Black, first appeared in the September issue of Penthouse in lesbian scenes. She returns in November issue with the same White woman, doing heaven knows what, and again in January featured in leather roughwear "in attitudes suggesting S & M," posed at White photographer's apartment.

There are now, to our knowledge, three nude sessions--one with sado-masochistic overtones and one with explicit lesbian love. Three separate sessions took place in a place in a space of weeks for two White photographers. It is hard to believe that this is the once-in-a-lifetime mistake that Williams has claimed and blamed on her "curiosity."

That summer, she reveals, "I was feeling like my own woman--free, rebellious, my own person," the New York Times reported. People said, "At last Vanessa felt free to do whatever she wanted to do, to experiment with her life."

She explains, according to People, "How in the summer of '82 she lost her way and wandered into the porn (pornography) field."

Vanessa Williams was a fraud on the American people--a fraud certainly on her own people", Bob Guccione of Penthouse said. The original photographs had been taken at Vanessa's insistence, People reported him as saying.

"She said it would be very sexy to pose with another girl. She was delighted with the pictures, she showed them to everybody," Gucione added. Her excuse is that she was taken advantage of by the White people she trusted.

As her undraped, nude body is on view in dirty pictures "kissing and caressing--and being intimately kissed and carressed" by a nude White woman and in bizarre S & M scenes for the rest of this year, mothers are warning their daughters about the lubricious tableaux of "Mess America." Meanwhile, Essence magazine, according to published reports, will present "a written bouquet" to her in the October issue where the editor argues against the ethics that condemn Williams.

Essence Editor-in Chief Susan Taylor sent her a bouquet of flattery (Vanessa Williams sent her flowers) after Williams appeared as Essence's latest cover girl in men's attire, looking like a man wearing lipstick and long hair. It does nothing for the image of Vanessa Williams on the heels of posing in a simulated lesbian love role.

Taylor blows sisterly kisses in an open letter to Williams in a tribute fit for a champion of Black womanhood. The editorial kudos contain gems of a runaway imagination. She tells Vanessa that she has stumbled, "but you did not violate the society's ethics. This society's ethics violated you. You were...lambasted for posing nude."

Taylor's lovefest for the "violated" Williams then really turned convoluted: "Isn't it interesting, Vanessa, that in this country nudity is a disgrace and racism isn't?" Nudity? Two naked woman together in love scenes and, says Newsweek, "engaged in explicit acts of oral sex" is innocent nudity?

Did not violate society's ethics? She certainly wasn't selling memberships for the NAACP in Penthouse. The problem, Taylor seems to argue, is that it is not what the former Miss America did, but that society is wrong because it doesn't accept what she did. My approach to the ethical question, in a six-page story in Tony Brown's Journal Magazine, which is much too lengthy to reprint in this space, is exactly the opposite. I say that her nude disgrace had nothing to do with racism and violates the standards of decency of any organized society or any racial group.

The 63 years of racist exclusion from the Miss America pageant is "more offensive morally than any transgression on your part," Ms. Taylor writes to Williams. This is the poorest excuse I've heard yet for pornography. To know that Taylor is wrong all you need is a pair of eyes--even one will do. williams is right because racism is wrong? Added a female Washington Post writer: "And any woman, be she 19 or 39, should have known better."

To hail Williams as a victim of "society's ethics" or Black heroine of the struggle, or to even imply it as Taylor does, demeans every Black woman living and past. It reduces the ethics of Ida B. Wells-Barnett, Sojourner Truth, Harriett Tubman and the long list of Black freedom fighters to those of a tart.

It tells every Black woman--be she 19 or 39--that her ethics depend on her ability to get what she wants any way she can. Values, therefore, are a floating crap game--good if she wins; racist if she loses. Under these rules, she is never responsible for her behavior because of her gender or race.

To show support for Williams as a Black victim of racism ignores her lesbian love scenes as well as her rejection of her role as a Black woman and role model for Black people. She saw the notion of being a Black symbol as a handicap. Even questions on the issue "irritated" her as did a comparison to Jackie Robinson. In playing down her Blackness, she noted that this is a colorless world and "nothing has held me back."

Her White "friends" certainly did. She allowed an obese White man to pose her nude twice. Even her pursuit or pornography omitted Blacks. The disgrace that followed was also "colorless."

She has confessed that she was wrong, that she took a chance and got caught. So let it be. (To be continued)

Courts Backtrack On Rights

When the Supreme Court reconvenes shortly for its Fall term, it will deal with important civil rights and civil libertie cases. Unlike past terms however, advocates for civil and individual rights are gloomy about the prospects for positive decisions in those cases.

The Supreme Court appears to have changed, finally completing the long transition from the era of the Warren Court to an institution that is concerned with protecting individuals from the power of the state and far more tolerant of abuses of constitutional rights.

The Warren Court will go down in history, not simply for its path-breaking civil rights rulings, but also for its extension of protections for those accused of crimes, for voting rights, and for other decisions extending freedom.

The Burger Court was split between "conservatives" and "liberals" and demonstrated inconsistencies as first one side, and then the other, would prevail.

But in its last term, a conservative majority seemed to finally come together to produce some very disturbing rulings.

One such, the case involving the Memphis Fire Department's affirmative action program, ended with the court, in effect, confirming the last-hired, first-fired syndrome that is so powerful a barrier to black workers.

In another case, Grove City College v. Bell, the Court sided witht he Justice Department's narrow view of the scope of federal civil rights laws.

There were other civil rights cases with better outcomes, for example the one in which theCourt supported extension of anti-discrimination laws to cover partnership decisions in law firms.

But the general drift of its civil rights rulings indicates that the Court seems to be coming down on the side of the Justice Department more often than it used to. And the Justice Department, encouraged by the Court's rulings, seems to be waging an all-out war on affirmative action, minority setasides, busing, and much more.

A further sign that the Court is becoming more conservative is its ruling that drilled holes in the "exlusionary rule" that prevents use of illegally obtained evidence.

The Court compromised constitutional protection against illegal searches and seizures, sending a signal that it would no longer be vigilant in protecting individual rights.

The Court's rightward drift is becoming an election issue since the next president is likely to appoint enough new justices to shape the Court for years to come.

Five of the judges are 75 years old or more, and only two, the most conservative, are under 60.

The addition of just one more judge in tune with the thinking of the current slim majority would be enough to move the Court solidly to the right. Instead of those 6-3 and 5-4 decisions in close cases, the liberal minority would be completely isolated.

Two such judges would be enough to keep the Court on the rightward course for many years to come, an especially troubling thought when we consider that the federal Courts have often been the sole protectors of civil rights.

And that thought is even more troubling when we consider it would be ruling on cases brought before it by a Justice Department actively seeking to overturn past civil rights decisions that extended black and minority rights.

HEADACHES AREN'T NORMAL

Just about everybody gets a headache once in awhile, so why should you be unduly upset if you happen to be suffering from one? If you've been celebrating with friends and eat or imbibe too much, it certainly would not be unusual to wake up with a headache the next day. But that kind of headache usually goes away as soon as you're eating and drinking sensibly again, and getting enough sleep.

But what about the other kinds of headache?

Some illnesses, such as flu, include headache among the symtoms. But if you're in reasonably good health, you have a right to wonder why you suffer from headaches.

A resort to aspirin and other medication may dull the pain for a while, but if the headaches persist you should seek treatment.

Among the causes of persistent headache are problems with the cervical vertebrae, the spinal bones in your neck. If they are out of alignment, this could cause headaches until you get the treatment you need.

We've got Lotto

You could win thousands, even millions, when you play Lotto, the new game from the Washington State Lottery. Because the jackpot grows 'til somebody wins! It's fun to play, and it's easy.

How to play.

Pick up a free Lotto play slip at any On-Line Games Agent. The play slip is divided into 10 games, each with a field of numbers from 1 to 40.

Decide how many games you want to play. You play two games for a dollar, and can play up to 10 games on a single play slip. The minimum play is one dollar.

Pick 6 numbers out of 40 for each game you play. Using pen or pencil (not red), mark the 6 numbers you've selected on the play slip for each game. Games must be played in pairs. You receive two games for each $1 played.

Hand the completed play slip to your On-Line Agent. The agent will enter it into the Ticket Distribution Machine, which will print out a Lotto ticket showing the numbers you selected, the drawing date, and the amount you played. The agent will return your play slip for possible future use.

Check your ticket. It is your responsibility to check your Lotto ticket to make sure it corresponds with the numbers you selected. Be sure to keep your ticket until after that week's drawing, as proof of purchase.

Quick Play option. If you prefer, the On-Line computer will randomly select six numbers for each game you wish to play. Just tell the Agent you want a "Quick Play" and state how many games you're playing.

How much you can win.

Evergreen Lotto is a parimutuel game, so the size of the jackpot depends upon how many people play. If more than one person wins, they share the Jackpot equally. The Lottery guarantees that the cash value of the First Prize Jackpot will be at least $500,000, no matter how many people play.

It could grow into the millions—all for the person (or to be divided equally among the persons) who match in any order all 6 winning numbers.

The second prize share is divided among all players who match 5 out of 6 winning numbers in any order and the third prize share is divided among all those who match 4 out of 6 winning numbers in any order. These prizes are determined by total Lotto sales and number of winners each week.

All prizes with a cash value of $250,000 or more will be paid in the form of a multiple-year annuity.

How to collect your prize.

Winning amounts will be announced to the public through the media and On-Line Sales Agents every Monday at 9 a.m. Prizes of up to $600 can be collected at any On-Line location. Winners of larger amounts must file a claim form with the Lottery. Forms are available from any Lottery Agent.
